

Southern Vineyard.

Los Angeles, February 25, 1859.

Los Angeles Water Works Company.

The shaft and all the cast-iron work of the water wheel for the construction of the City Water Works came down in the Santa Cruz to the care of Goller & Tomlinson, and will be in town to-day. The mechanics will proceed immediately to the construction of the machinery and works. The cost of the castings in San Francisco was $469.
