

Will Soon Get Up Steam.

The Chester Steam Heating and Power Company have everything ready to begin operations, and they expect to be able to break ground for the laying of pipes on Monday next. Lots of people would like to see this company under way. If steam will spare them the annoyance of attending to heaters, ranges and stoves, and can be operated satisfactorily, of which there appears to be no doubt, the steam is just what the people want.