A WATER COMBINE.

George F. Woolston Buys up all the Helena Water Companies for $341,000 Cash and Stock in the New Company.

Five voluminous legal documents from the office of McConnell, Carter & Clayberg have been filed in the office of Clerk & Recorder Tooker, proclaiming in due style that George F. Woolston has bought up all the Helena water companies for a consideration of $341,000, cash, and several hundred thousand dollars' worth of stock in the Helena Consolidated Water company which is to absorb all the property and franchises purchased. The deeds to the rights and property in question have been placed in escrow in various Helena banks and will be turned over to Mr. Woolston on or before August 10th 1889, providing said Woolston complies with the following terms on or before that date:

To pay the West Side Company as follows:

Amos H. Johnson	$9,000
John Stewart	18,000
Elisha Poad	18,000
Henry Hay	18,000
Benjamin Benson	18,000
Mary B. & W. C. Child	10,000
Total	91,000
To pay Robt. S. Hale	$25,000

To pay the Helena Water Co. as follows:

R. S. Hale	$75,000
T. C. Power & A. J. Davidson	75,000
Total	$175,000
To pay W. A. and Penelope V. Chessman	$75,000
Grand total	$341,000

In addition to the above, which are all cash considerations, George F. Woolston is to turn over to Mr. Chessman $75,000, par value of the capital stock of the Helena Consolidated Water Company, and promissory notes to the value of $25,000; also to T. C. Power stock for his holdings in the West Side company. Others of the old companies and the Woolston company also take stock in the new company, sothat the total consideration of the purchase in cash and stock, is about $700,000.

The property purchased consists of all placer claims, water rights, pipes, ditches, francises, etc., belonging to the East Side and West Side Water companies; 90 acres of placer ground in Dry gulch, the property of the Greathouse brick yard, water rights, flumes, ditches and pipe belonging to R. S. Hale, who reserves the right to mine in Dry gulch; three blocks in the Helena townsite belonging to the Hale and West Side companies; the Eureka drain ditch, 100 inches water in Last Chance gulch, the Yaw Yaw ditch, 2,000 inches of water from Ten Mile, the Helena ditch, 1,000 inches of water from Ten Mile, Beaver creek reservoir and 1,500 inches of water, and 1,000 inches of water from the west fork and south fork of the west fork of Beaver creek, together with all boxes, pipes, franchises, etc.

Mr. J. B. Clayberg, the attorney of the new company was summonsed east yesterday by telegram and left last evening for Boston to perfect the details of the transaction. It is fully expected by all concerned that the deal will be successfully consummated.
